VOL. XXXI[illegible] SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1934 Issued Weekly Number ~~38~~ 1

FERA FUNDS MADE AVAILABLE AGAIN FOR COLLEGE WORK

Additional Number Are to Benefit by New Arrangement

Vierling Kersey, superintendent of public instruction at Sacramento, has for the second time approved of FERA aid to students of this college who would otherwise be unable to continue their education, it was revealed to "The Collegian" yesterday by the treasurer's office.

Twelve per cent of the 1933 enrollment rather than the former ten per cent will be the basis for the distribution of relief funds. 475 is the full-time enrollment here. Thus a maximum of fifty-three students will receive the benefits of the federal allotments, Brother Ralph made known. Last spring 48 men were on the student relief rolls.

However, half of the funds will go to those undergraduates not enrolled in January, 1934.

Requirements Changed

The work required by the government must this year be educational and recreational with the aim to increase usefulness to the community. Last March, when the government assistance was first extended to Saint Mary's, the regulations stipulated that the types of work for which the funds allotted be used to include the usual socially desirable jobs held by students working their way, including clerical work, work on buildings and grounds and commissary work.

During the fall the college plans to select men for library work, research, and perhaps maintain a number of men to give instruction to children in Moraga. The Athletic Board of Control has already employed a number of men to launch a statistical survey while other departments are planning to institute a number of sociological surveys on the campus. The FERA demands that work done by the students must not be work already done by some assistant.

As before, the office of the treasurer will be responsible for money received, projects set up for students, monies disbursed and all accounting and reports to be submitted to the FERA.

Vierling Kersey, as last spring, will aid the college authorities concerning the types of projects to be carried on and the general conducts of the program.

Brings Aid

Once more Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, made FERA funds available to financially strapped students when he approved Saint Mary's a college worthy of relief.

WELCOME HOP SET FOR 7TH

Hotel Oakland to Be Setting for Opening Dance

Relief from shoe-polishing, carrying "upper-class" luggage and impromptu visits from the sophs will come for the yearling class on September 7. The relief will be in the form of the annual welcome dance.

President Joseph Alioto of the sophomore class has announced that the Hotel Oakland will be used for the occasion. A dance committee headed by Val Detling is in charge of the affair. Detling named Jack Sutcliffe, Bill Tipton, Bill Simon and Cornelio Baca as his aides.

Grill Orchestra

Joaquin Grill's Orchestra has been selected for the music. The band is composed of eleven pieces. Four vocalists will entertain during intermissions. "We assure the entire student body," affirmed Detling, "a pleasant evening's entertainment. We are doing our utmost to offer those present novel and interesting selections."

Tickets for the event will go on sale within the next week in charge of Jack Sutcliffe. The price of admission is to be one dollar. For freshmen the charge is presentation of their freshman caps at the door.

Hypnotic Act, Big Game Films Entertain Yearlings in Frolic

With a program featuring Sid Snow, famous big game hunter, and Professor Vincent Barbaro, hypnotist of the University of Milan, the alumni officially welcomed the frosh into the college Tuesday evening.

Mr. Snow illustrated his moving picture of big game hunting with explanatory remarks. The capture of a polar bear and the killing of an elephant featured the presentation. Next the hunter gave a lecture on "Native Life in Africa." The number of wives of a Zulu chief has, the native form of play and hunting and other intimate anecdotes of native life were all covered by Mr. Snwo.

Nichelini Hypnotized

Next on the program was Professor Vincent Barbaro. He demonstrated hypnotic powers on local subjects. Most noted of the group was "Doubting Thomas" Al Nichelini who dismissed hypnotism as being "bunk."

After playing a little football, chasing imaginary fleas and obeying other orders of the professor Nichelini recognized that hypnotism was not "bunk." Other features of the hypnotism program were a "cake-walk" by Richard Vail and Paul Barnes, crooning by Bud Hanna and a Lupe Valez "hip dance" by Enrie George.

The evening's entertainment was rounded out by a talk given by Mr. Lowery '11 to the Freshmen. In his talk Mr. Lowery spoke of the lasting influence of Saint Mary's teaching. "Whether you live ten or sixty years after you leave Saint Mary's you will find that the things taught you by the Christian Brothers will remain with you always," he said.

The program was sponsored by Saint Mary's Alumni. Mr. Timothy J. Canty, alumni secretary, was in charge of arrangements and performed the introductions.

Welcome Message Given to New Men

Students Activities Listed by Local Leader

To all men of Saint Mary's, both new and old, I extend a hearty welcome to the campus and an earnest invitation to participation in student activities.

Increased funds, a large freshman class and a capable set of student officers indicate a banner year in campus life at Saint Mary's. The one thing essential to a successful program of student activities this year is your good will and cooperation. With your support it is our hope that student activity will receive a new impetus and that every student in the college will share in its opportunities.

Builder of Men

Saint Mary's is pre-eminent as a builder of men and offers every advantage for moral, mental and physical development. The chapel, the class-rooms, campus organizations and the playing fields are the laboratories wherein that development takes place. Your college career will be a success to just the degree to which you take advantage of these means of self-perfection. A Saint Mary's man is a Christian gentleman, a believer in first things first, and a good sport. If he does not exhibit these qualities he is not worthy of the college.

A college is judged by its students —to the critical outsiders you are Saint Mary's. If you are a real Saint Mary's man and if you cherish the name of your college you will do everything to enhance its prestige and nothing to cast reflection upon it.

Once again I bid you welcome to the ASSMC and ask for your wholehearted cooperation in putting student activity over the top.

NOEL E. SHERRY,
President ASSMC.

Howl Raised When Pets Are Tagged

Scholars Object to Fine for Illegal Parking

The first test case regarding the administration of authority on tagging parked cars in restricted zones of the campus will come up before the Executive Council in its first session of the year Wednesday when the case of Vieira vs. Rice and Twomey will be taken under consideration.

Maurice Vieira is suing the co-defendants on four counts—defamation of character, perjury, forgery and acting without authority. The plaintiff claims that Bill Rice, former photographer of the GAEL, and Thomas Twomey, varsity debate manager, forged the name of Sam McCullagh, vice-president of the ASSMC, on a parking ticket in front of center hall Tuesday evening when he was unloading his car in that zone.

Noel Sherry has been employed as attorney for the plaintiff and claims that his client has suffered great mental anguish because of slander against his character and that life in Center Hall has become unbearable because of it, and seeks not only a formal apology but also material recompense.

Carl Roehl and Dermitt O'Toole are to be called as witnesses.

This case will be considered before that of the ASSMC vs. Bill Smith. Smith's car was tagged the same evening by Havelock Hunter.

The Executive Council will act as jury in both cases.

Many Out-of-State Students Register

Though no official count was obtainable at the recorder's office, this year's registration shows a number at least equal to last year's.

Thus far it appears that the number of out-of-states will be greater than ever before. They come from thirteen states, the territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and even South America.

Utah leads the other states, having seven students. Arizona and Colorado run a close second, while other states including New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Washington and the remainder of the western states have their representatives.

There is also an increase in the numbers of both the commuters and the boarders, but as usual those living on the campus far outnumber those who do not.

Southern California too has sent more students, most of them coming from around Los Angeles, Pasadena, and Bakersfield. However, the registration from the Oakland-San Francisco area remains about the same.

As in the past, Saint Mary's College High in Berkeley, Sacred Heart High in San Francisco, and Cathedral High in Los Angeles sent the greatest number of freshmen.

Committeemen Meet to Prepare for Bear Game

Rally committee men will meet in Room D113 today at 12:20 to sign up new members and arrange the many details which come up in preparation for the California Rally.

According to Bill Hampton, chairman, Jack Bannister, yell leader, is proposing the adoption of a new type of rally sweater. It will be of the pullover type with red and blue stripes around the neck and sleeves. The insignia will probably remain the same, a rally cap with the letters S M in the center.

Duties of the rally committee are to take charge of rallies, usher and manage the rooting sections at intercollegiate athletic contests, care for the school banner and other like activities. The membership usually consists of three or four members from each class. Freshmen are urged to sign up.

CONDOLENCES

Sincerest condolences of the Associated Students are extended to Edward Barry '36 on the death of his father, Mr. Edward I. Barry, and to Elmer Votto on the death of his mother during the summer.

DATE FOR ANNUAL BRAWL SET BY SM SOCIETY PRESIDENT

Rivalry Between Lower Classes Is to End With Tussle

After a week of light hazing, ranging from shoe shining to packing trunks, the members of the lower division classes are looking forward to the annual brawl on September 6 as the climax of the orientation rites for the lowly scrub.

Sophomore students under their leader, Joseph Alioto, have vowed that a no-decision verdict will not be rendered at the yearly clash as was the case last year. Furthermore they promise that the members of the class of '36 will be a well subdued group when the sun sets on the Moraga Valley.

Aquatic Contests

The annual inter-class swimming meet will inaugurate the day's activity. Aquatic competition is to be held in the swimming pool of Madigan Gymnasium during the morning.

In the afternoon the yearlings and the second year men will tangle with each other on Agnon Field commencing about 1:30 p. m.

Although some new events are to be introduced, the tried numbers which include the relay race, shoe pole race, man-on-a-horse, tug-of-war, and the tie-up will be again listed on the program.

Block Society in Charge

James O'Donnell, president of the Block S. M. Society, announced yesterday that the sports men are going to handle the affair as is customary so that justice will be guaranteed to all participants.

For this purpose he has appointed a committee, Bud Hanna, Felix Pennino, Nebb Elduayan and William Scott, of which Hanna is chairman, to make the necessary arrangements.

Concludes With Smoker

In the evening the traditional smoker is to be tendered to the freshmen in Madigan Gymnasium by the sophs. A full program of entertainment is now being drawn up.

This will end the hazing period and will permit the first-year students to move about without apprehension.

OFFICIAL ASSMC NOTICE

Attention is called to ASSMC cards which may be purchased at the bookstore for one dollar. Student athletic game tickets will be issued only to card holders. Permission to enter Agnon Field during football practice will be limited to card holders.

Largest Number of Students Report for Debating Year

The varsity debaters are looking forward to a year of greater activity than has marked even their former efforts.

The squad of debaters which has returned to school numbers twelve men, the largest group of experienced speakers ever to grace a local rostrum. Added to this group are six members of last season's freshman class.

John Rossi, Noel Sherry, Joseph Leonard, Philip Brady, Philip Quitman, Henry Floyd, Thomas Twomey, Edward Barry, Arthur Mott, Al Musante, Wagner Jorgensen and Joseph Cassidy are the varsity speakers available.

Frosh Grads

The frosh graduates include Thomas Paddock, Carl Schuck, Val Detling, Joseph Alioto, Richard Vail, Edward Nevin and Ed Durkin.

Action has already been taken on the schedule for the year by Thomas Twomey, debate manager, who is beginning his third consecutive year in the position.

Parliament Debating Society, a women's forensic group of the University of California, will furnish the first opposition on September 11.

Trophy for Symposium

The annual three-corner meet with Stanford, California and Saint Mary's as participants has been tentatively set for November 5. The argument will be based on the qualifications of the gubernatorial candidates of the November election.

Plans tentatively call for a trophy to be offered at the symposium this year to the participant who presents the best arguments and knowledge of the subject. However, the sanction of the various parties concerned is necessary before this award can be set up.

Many Contests Listed

The Hibernia Bank and the Saint Mary's Club are offering the trophy.

Other teams with which contests will be held this semester include the University of San Francisco, San Jose State, San Francisco State, College of Pacific, University of Santa Clara, Newman Hall at the University of California and San Quentin Penitentiary.

Nearby junior colleges will offer tilts for sophomores and new members of the varsity squad.

LITTLE WOMEN TALK

Edward Smiddy, member of the younger generation of instructors on the campus, is to address the Lafayette Women's Guild on Louise Alcott's "Little Women" the night of Friday, September 7th. He has been requested to deal with the "salutory effect of the book on the morals of the younger generation."

Mr. Robert McAndrews was first approached by the women's organization but he declined and passed the offer over to his side-kick. "Little Women I Have Known" is the suggested title of the lecture the head of the debating department proposed.

Mass of Holy Ghost To Be Said August 31

Garbed in their academic robes, members of the faculty will file into the chapel next Friday morning in the picturesque academic procession preceding the Mass of the Holy Ghost. At least, next Friday has been set as the tentative date for the traditional Mass by Father Bowling, student chaplain. The student brother's choir is also scheduled to sing.

For years the students and the faculty of the college have maintained this pious habit of offering a Mass to the Holy Ghost at the beginning of the scholastic year to ask His blessings on their academic efforts.

In order that all the students be given an opportunity to attend, the Recorder's office has announced that all the eleven o'clock religion classes will be suspended.

Major Faculty Change Sees Brother James Named Dean

Among the most important changes in the faculty and its various officers is the appointment of Brother James as dean of the college. He is the acting head of the department of education during the absence of Brother Julian.

The only new addition to the faculty is Professor Halterman who will assume the duties of assistant professor of economics in the school of economics and business administration. Mr. Halterman, formerly of the University of California, replaces Professor Carr who is now Research Assistant to Henry F. Grady, dean of the college of commerce at the University, who is now special assistant to the secretary of state. Mr. Carr's duties will be in tariff bargaining negotiations.

In the reorganization scheme Brother James will be assisted by Professor James Hagerty and Allyn Loosley. Mr. Hagerty, head of the department of philosophy, the vice-president of the executive board of trustees, and the editor of the "Moraga Quarterly," undertakes a new official capacity, as the head of the school of arts and letters, which also embraces the pre-legal, pre-medical and pre-dental curricula.

Loosley, formerly head of the department of economics and finance, is appointed head of the newly organized school of economics, finance and business administration. During the summer Professor Loosley taught in the department of economics at the summer session at the University of California. He offered courses in Principles of Economics and Economic History of Europe, courses formerly taught at Saint Mary's.

Brother Matthew, instructor in history, has taken over the duties of recorder in the absence of Brother Julian who has been granted a leave of absence for one year to make an extended tour of Europe.

VARSITY GRIDMEN ON DECK FOR SCHEDULE

Rivalry for Various Posts Is Expected During Coming Season

One swallow doesn't make a summer and neither does two linesmen and one halfback give Moraga fans a reasonable excuse to predict the annual national championship for the locals, even though the trio of gridders be of proven championship caliber.

Gael football gossip for that reason has been conspicuous for its lack of the customary bubbling confidence. But the above doesn't prohibit secret dreamings of those coveted laurels resting in this valley at the termination of this 1934 grid season.

Especially so when retrospection is cast upon the accomplishments of that 1931 team, the "green team that turned to gold."

Nebb Elduayan, "Turk" Yezerski, and "Big Nick" Nichelini give Madigan three towers of strength around which to mould the Erdelatzs, the Dennerleins, the Meisters, the Fieses, the Penninos, etc., and etc., into Canrinuses, Carl Jorgersen's Wilsons, Aherns, and the like.

Take Felix Pennino at the left end job, he's been overshadowed by the brilliance of George Canrinus for the past two seasons. In this his last year, he gets a real opportunity to prove his worth.

In Carl Jorgersen's tackle position will be big and strong Herm Meister. Herm came fast in the latter part of the season last fall. He may even excel Yezerski.

An unknown, but highly promising quantity is stocky built 216 pound Jerry Dennerlein, lone member of last year's great Frosh squad to crash the first string in spring practice.

At the pivot post will be Wag Jorgersen, who played some fine ball last year as Merv Yates' understudy.

Elduayan and Yezerski will be at the right guard and right tackle positions respectively.

At end with all the natural ability of developing into a greater flankman than the great Fred Canrinus, is Eddie Erdelatz, who will hold down the right flank this year.
may open at quarter, followed by Nichelini and Herb Schreiber in the halfback posts. Herb proved himself a flossy pigskin tosser in the S. M. U. game last December. He has always been a top-notch ball carrier.

"Kelly" Kellogg is scheduled to appear in the fullback roll when the curtain raiser with the Columbia team of Portland on September 30 comes around.

None of the positions are definite. Not with such players as Ed Hallman, Dennis Keran, Jerry Conlee, Nick Katzmayer, and a host of others battling for positions on the varsity.

Staff for Athletic Publicity Announced

For the first time since gaining general athletic prominence, Saint Mary's Galloping Gaels will be without a special publicity director this year.

Increased public interest in Gael athletics has resulted in the employment of individual campus correspondents for all the metropolitan newspapers of the Bay region and rendered a special publicity man unnecessary.

Will Stevens, who handled press relations in the past and is responsible for a large share of the national fame that Saint Mary's has accrued, has accepted a position as a feature writer with a San Francisco newspaper and will not be back.

Bob McAndrews on the San Francisco Chronicle, Ed Hogan on the Call-Bulletin and Al McKeever of the Post-Enquirer are the new campus correspondents. Those returning to old uosts are Tom Foudy on the Oakland Tribune, Bill Smith on the Examiner, and Martin Hill on the San Francisco News.

Championship Looms for Hurlers

With a chance at the Pacific Coast Championship pending on the outcome of their game with Clare on September 2, the Saint Mary's Hurling Team has been practicing rigorously for the coming fray. If the Gaels come through the Clare game victoriously, they will be matched against Cork for the championship.

Clare and Saint Mary's played August 12, but due to an illegal substitution on the part of Clare, the game will be replayed on September 2.

Good Summer

The Gaels enjoyed a successful summer season, thus placing them in their position to grasp the title. In the first half they dropped their two opening games to Cork and Clare respectively, but came back strong to win from the Oakland Shamrocks.

To begin the second half of the season the Gaels were victorious over Cork, which gives them the distinction of being the first team to defeat Cork in about two years. Their last game was with Clare, which is to be replayed because of Clare's illegal substitution.

Strong Team

Each member of the team winning the championship will receive an individual medal.

Dineen and Raferty, veteran Gael starters, played their usual fine game on the forward line. Everett Pendleton showed up exceptionally well at the centerfield position, and gives promise of becoming one of the leading Gael hurlers. Brother James, coach for the local aggregation, has high expectations for his team.

Moraga Mentor Anxious for Practice to Get Under Way

Itching for things of a football nature to get underway, Slip Madigan, each day, tears a leaf off of his desk calendar getting more and more impatient to start the Galloping Gaels on their way in preparation for a big year. A year which will be Edward Patrick's fourteenth at Saint Mary's.

Last year, Slip's thirteenth, did prove unlucky as the Gaels had one of their most disastrous seasons in a decade. The Moragans were beaten in three tussles and tied in another, leaving only six triumphs which is sub-normal for a Madigan team. But indications are encouraging this fall.

Slip never disappoints his numerous followers, who can always be assured of witnessing a colorful contest, regardless of the outcome. There is no doubt about it, Madigan is a colorful coach and the Gaels are a colorful team.

Madigan has the distinction of being the dean of coaches on the Pacific Coast. An even greater distinction is the fact that he built up the school in football and at the same time won a name for himself.

His first connection with the College in 1921 saw him dividing his time so as to teach several courses, coach all sports and on top of this was his own trainer. The baseball teams won the state championship for several years and many of the boys went to the majors.

Columbia, a prep school in Portland, Oregon, had Madigan for its coach in 1920, in which year that school lost but one game. All his football tutoring except that one year in Portland has been spent in establishing the Galloping Gaels as one of the foremost teams in the land.

A squad of 17 men comprised Madigan's first football roster at Saint Mary's. This year's spring practice found about 100 men showing their football wares to Slip.

Madigan received his training at Notre Dame under James Harper and Knute Rockne, a pair of coaches whom history will never overlook, and with whom Slip hopes to be classified some day.

Slip has produced four All-Americans: Strader, Bettencourt, Frankian and Ackerman. It is time for another Gael to have this honor bestowed on him and as this year's team has some formidable veterans Slip should find himself credited with number five.

New Trophy Added To List of Prizes

Added to the many awards that are given for athletic attainment, a new beautiful trophy has been donated by J. Tilden Abrams, a former Saint Mary's student.

The trophy shall be of a perpetual nature, and will be presented each year to the football player who has proved his undisputed sportsmanship on and off the gridiron.

The new addition is of a beautiful design wrought in cooper, and stands twenty-one inches high with the top of the trophy culminating in a miniature punter some eight inches in height.

Other Awards

This recent award together with the other athletic trophies available for Gael footballers gives the athletes another avenue to gain worthy recognition.

Besides the Abrams Sportsmanship Trophy, each year the James Smith Kicking award is presented to the winner of the annual punting contest.

Another award which is very much sought after by the footballers is the coveted Frank M. Dwyer gold wrist watch which is given to the most valuable player.

The Athletic Board also presents a trophy which signifies that the owner of the award has maintained a higher scholastic average during his four years of schooling than any of his fellow gridders.

Agreement Reached By Sister Colleges

The breach in athletic relations between Saint Mary's College and the University of Santa Clara was healed on August 9, and the "Little Big Game" has been set for Sunday, November 18.

At the peace meeting held in a San Francisco hotel, representatives of the two institutions signed a three-year contract calling for competition in football, baseball and basketball starting this fall.

It was agreed also that Saint Mary's should retain the north side of Kezar Stadium until 1936 when it will go to Santa Clara. Certain sections of the north side, however, will be granted to Saint Mary's for the benefit of script holders and alumni.

Cause of Breach

The break occurred several days after the hectic game which ended in a 6 to 6 tie. The underlying reason was due to alleged statements made by Clipper Smith that "Saint Mary's always lays for my boys."

Smith denied making any such statements, but it caused such a chaos that it resulted in an announcement by Father James J. Lyons, president of the university, discontinuing all athletic relations with Saint Mary's.

The action of Father Lyons of Santa Clara was followed by an announcement from Saint Mary's officials that they would drop the Broncos from their schedule unless they received an apology from Clipper Smith for his alleged statements.

Saint Mary's peace delegation was headed by "Slip" Madigan, and James M. Smith of the alumni association. Santa Clara's representatives were Harry A. McKenzie, Brian E. Gagan and Charles H. Graham. Clipper Smith was in Texas assisting at a coaching school.

Second Disruption

The Gael-Bronco break was the second in the history of the rivals. The first followed a minor disagreement in 1911, which lasted until 1922.

FROSH FOOTBALLERS STRONGEST ON COAST

Many Lads Come Great Distance to Play for Red and Blue

Thirty-one freshmen gridders, a small but select squad, will represent the class of '38 this fall on the gridiron. Although the sign-up was small in comparison with previous years, the Gaelets have the class which will give them a squad equal to any frosh eleven in California.

The yearling gridders came from all over the United States. Colorado, Illinois, Utah, Ohio, and New Mexico are all represented. Frank Shook, a gridder from Morris, Illinois, hitch-hiked his way westward to try his luck with Saint Mary's.

Yotz on Hand

Although high school reputations mean little in college football there are a fair number of all-city and all-state men who are likely to be outstanding. Probably the most publicized of all high school players on the coast is Yotz Klotovitch of Mission High, San Francisco. Yotz was all-city halfback for three years and as a result his services were sought by every college on the coast.

Two other all-city men from the transbay city are represented here in the persons of Leo Scatena, 207-pound center from Poly and Tony Boehle of Balboa High. From Los Angeles come Wally Garard and Stan Grbovaz, both all-Southern California. Dick Hilken from Castlemont and Louie Climo of Oakland High are all-city from Oakland.

All-Alls

All-Valley men include: Art Thomas, Hanford tackle; DeWitt Trewhitt, Bakersfield guard; and Grannie Holbrook, Lemoore High halfback.

Carl Dallosta, a 200-pound guard from Sacramento High, made the All-Central Valley team.

Of the out of the state men, Gene Robens of Toledo, Ohio, and Tony Falkenstein from Pueblo, Colorado, carry the biggest high school reputations. "Woody" Peebles, former Gael center who lives in Youngstown, Ohio, acclaims Robens the greatest high school prospect to come out of a Colorado high school since the days of "Dutch" Clark.

Statistics show the candidates to average 191 pounds in weight with the heaviest man tipping beams at 270 pounds and the lightest at 160 pounds. Bob Hullt reaches 6 feet 6 inches into the ozone to gain the tallest man distinction while Koleman Kezeli represents the other extreme with 5 feet 7 inches for his stature.

Ex-Members of Phoenix Shine in Eastbay Tilts

Six recent wearers of the red and blue baseball togs of Saint Mary's Phoenix are members of the new California semi-pro champions, the Alameda Elks.

The fortunate half dozen who helped the Elks win the title over 23 other classy organizations in the Oakland Tribune's big tournament are James McDermott, Charley Jones, Vinnie Welsh and Charley Vore of the class of '33, and two of the Bill Brothers, Jack and Ted.

GAEL GLANCES

By Martin Hill

And we go to press for the first time of a new school year which is to see Saint Mary's rise out of the slump it took in athletics during '33-'34 . . .

The following concise conglomeration is submitted for the benefit of those who did not read the newspapers during vacation . . . The rip between Bronco and Gael was mended . . . Maestro Madigan was placed on rung number five at the zenith of a coach laden ladder built by the national pollings . . . his nearest rivals on the Pacific Coast were Ernie Nevers who finished in eleventh spot and Howard Jones who took the number twelve position . . . Little Joe McAleese '32 has been merrily sailing along this summer and has won the right to represent the bay section in the forthcoming international championship regatta . . . The Athletic Publicity Board will be without Will Stevens Jr. as Director this year . . . Sid Ahern, ex-grid pilot, was best man to "Hands" Slavich at nuptial ceremonies in San Rafael a few weeks ago . . . Bill Beasley, Gael captain two years ago, became a victim of the dreaded infantile paralysis several weeks ago but is now recovering . . . Former Phoenix members have been showing up well on the semi-pro nines of the bay region.

"Ambling Al" Nichelini acquired the rep last fall of being the fastest big man in football . . . this year he is twenty pounds heavier . . . and we hope, just that much faster . . . Al Toledoes a mere 220 this season.

Advice to Frosh Athletes . . . Put your prep blocks, awards, and clippings away. They're tabu here . . . SMC is a great equalizer and you'll note no snobbishness or big shot stuff unless it be amongst your own classmates where the local atmosphere may not yet have implanted itself . . . Your sports career begins again here at college and the step up from high school is a big one . . . Because you were an ace prepster don't think it means a cinch spot on the first eleven . . . Vince McNally, your grid and cage mentor, obtained his knowledge from the king of 'em all, the late Knute Rockne . . . Vince is not only a well groomed coach but he is a square shooter who gives all the boys a break as any varsity man will tell you.

Potentially one of the greatest fullbacks to ever enter Saint Mary's, Santo Garbo, who is now a senior, has decided definitely not to play football this year, or any year for that matter, as there is the possibility for recurrence of a neck injury sustained in the West Coast Army game two years ago. He is expected to join the coaching staff.

Just Stuff: . . . Gene Murphy, coach at Columbia University in Oregon, visited the Moraga Marvel Tuesday . . . Slip launches his schedule against Gene's lads on September 30 . . . both men are N. D. grads . . . Blibs Bareilles and Mickey McKay, midget battery of the varsity for three sessions, have proven to be a sensational combination in a northern California league . . . Sid Ahern will don the togs of the Olympic Club this season . . . Fred Canrinus was easily voted on the football team which will battle the professional champs at the Century of Progress late this month . . . Brother George will be one of Madigan's assistants on the gridiron this fall . . . Among other names not expected to appear on the 1934 roster are end Jim Lahey and half Vedo Metrovich.

Doctor LeFevre, graduate manager of athletics, announces that students will be allowed to witness the Galloping Gaels practice this fall upon presentation of student body cards. The news has resulted in no little amount of elation since entrance to the field was formerly restricted to scribes and managers.

Every now and then there has been mention of the Saint Mary's men who are coaches in S. F. high schools . . . Paul Hungerford at Poly, Armand Segnetti at Sacred Heart, "Dutch" Conlan at Commerce, and Walt Lester at Balboa . . . Now we get notice that some of the more recent grads are prep coaches . . . Len Callan at St. Vincent's in Vallejo, Red Scheflin at Merced, and Bill Fischer at Livermore, Max Baer's home town.

Schedule Adjusters

Hugh Rosson, graduate manager of the University of Oregon, and "Slip" Madigan met recently in an attempt to rearrange their grid schedules so that the "Little-Big Game" with Santa Clara may be played on a more convenient date. As yet no decision has been made.

KROW Medium for Summer Air Series

Broadcasting over four different stations as its regular contribution to air education, Saint Mary's, during the summer, continued to be the leader in small college radio activities. This summer of 1934 saw three more weekly programs added to the list of broadcasts.

KROW was the medium for Monday night broadcasts sponsored by the vocal expression department of the summer school. These half-hour programs, which started at 7 p. m., featured scenes from Shakespearean dramas, novelty debates, and the Saint Mary's News Reporter of the Air.

"The College and the Contemporary World" was the title of the Thursday night series over KRE at 7:45 and brought faculty speakers, chiefly from the fields of economics and political science, to the microphone.

Saint Mary's English department was responsible for a book review program which was presented over KTAB each Friday night at 8:30.

The addition of these three new radio broadcasts, two of which will continue to run in the future, are due mainly to the efforts of Mr. Robert McAndrews.

Additional Privilege to ASSMC Card Holders

Announcement was forthcoming from the Athletic department that ASSMC card holders would be entitled to watch all secret practice on the football field this fall.

The above was made to increase the interest of the student body in the team.

Whether the cards would admit students to practice immediately before big games, such as the California clash, was not indicated in the announcement.

Natural Recognition Given Radio Efforts

A full page has been devoted to a discussion of Saint Mary's radio programs in the August number of "Radio Art," a national news magazine concerned with the airwaves.

The history of the college on the radio is traced with particular notice given to current programs.

In part the article refers to the efforts of Saint Mary's as "a leader in small college radio activities."

Joe McAleese May Win Internationals

Former Student Is Ace Sailboat Manipulator of Region

Several years ago it was Little Joe Lang in the Olympic Games who put Saint Mary's College into the spotlight of the world, and now another Joe—Joe McAleese this trip—is following in Lang's successful footsteps.

McAleese, a former Gael, who graduated from Saint Mary's in '32, will be the San Francisco Bay representative in the international star boat championship races, which will get under way September 15. This former student, who now resides in Sausalito, clinched his claim for first rights to represent the Bay region in these races a fortnight ago, when, in the finals, he bested his nearest rival, Si Berquist.

Good Chance

McAleese, and his crew mate, Herm Peterson, will go into the international races in their class as the "men to beat." This young team will have a decided advantage over all other contestants, because of the knowledge which both lads possess of San Francisco Bay with its tricky currents and subtle tides.

Young Joe tried out for the same honors last year, and narrowly missed being chosen. Undaunted by the loss in his initial tryout, McAleese took another shot at it this year, and won out decisively.

From Far and Wide

Boats for this competition are entered from all over this sail-specked globe, and the battling promises to be a very stiff type when the boys in the star boats unfurl their canvas sails and scoot o'er the waves. McAleese and Peterson, his partner, are priming their "Corinthian IV" for the events, and they promise to have the good craft in ship-shape and Bristol fashion for this September event which attracts world-wide attention each year.

In the last test of the season against his closest rival, McAleese called to his aid that indomitable Saint Mary's spirit, when he came from behind in the last half of the race to down Berquist and sail triumphantly over the finish line a winner, and possessor for a year, at least, of this coveted top spot. May the best wishes of both students and alumni sail to victory with Joe and his partner.

O.C. Quarter

Sid Ahern, the gridder who gave the instructions in the Gael varsity huddles for three campaigns, has signed to do the quarterbacking for the Olympic Club this fall. He was voted the most valuable player's award last winter.

Dreier Comes Through In Golf Eliminations

"Slim" Dreier, erstwhile Gael golfer, was among the four who topped the leading amateur club wielders to earn the right to represent the Bay vicinity in the U. S. amateur championship which begins September 10th at the Country Club in Brookline, Mass.

Contented

Yeh, it's Clipper Smith all right. The big smile was spread when he heard that his men would get another chance against the Galloping Gaels. Last year's 6-6 tie was the closest that Clipper ever came to subduing foes of "The Little Big Game."

Wilson Going Strong In Professional Game

George Wilson, sensational halfback last fall, is one of the more promising of the baseball candidates in the big leagues. He was farmed out for one year by the league leading Detroit Tigers to Sioux City.

Although he had a semester of eligibility left in football Wilson preferred to graduate last spring and try for laurels in professional baseball. On his first trip to the plate for the Sioux City nine he connected for a home run.

VACA… FEATURED … INTEREST PRO…

This past summer school, at which the College returned to the six-week five-day plan, was attended by a group of students, four being co-eds, together with approximately sixty Brothers of the various Christian Brothers schools in the state.

Several extra-curricula activities, including tennis, golf, and dramatics, were very well supported by the summer school students. The golf tournament, with more than 12 entrants, which was held on the football field, was won by Bill Smith, a member of the golf team.

Other tentative matches were discontinued because of the damage done to the turf by the unskilled golfers of the group.

The tennis tournament was held at the latter part of the summer session, with Brother Edmund and Jim O'Hare tying for first place. The match could not be terminated due to the retreat which prevented Brother Edmund from continuing.

Director Louis E. LeFevre and his troupe of players presented several short plays over the air. Those participating in these productions were Edward Smiddy, Thomas Paddock, Ed Mahan, Bill Siefker, Mario Gaione, Bill Simon, Hurd Booth and others. The co-eds that took part in some of these presentations were Misses Dermody, Sullivan and Hogan.

The only casualty of the summer session was a case of mumps contracted by Albert McKeever several days after classes were in session.

At the gathering John W. Collins '20 gave an interesting talk on the economic issues of Pope Leo XIII.

President McGuiness and the officers of the unit are now busily engaged in plans for the Oakland football luncheon to be held at the Hotel Leamington on Tuesday, September 13.

Sid Snow '23

Sid Snow '233, who gave an illustrated lecture for the freshmen on last Tuesday evening, was a member of the varsity football team in 1919 and again in 1922. In 1919, he was a membeer of his father's expedition to the heart of Africa; the expedition taking over two years.

He has produced with his father, the late H. A. Snow, or by himself three moving pictures: one of Africa, one of Alaska and the Arctic and his latest picture, "Cougar," depicts a hunt in his native California.

Alumni Football Dinner Dance The evening of the "Cal" game

The annual football dinner dance of the Saint Mary's Alumni will be held this year on the evening of the California-Saint Mary's game which is Saturday, October 6; the event is to take place at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

The decision to hold the event on the evening of the Bear-Gael game, instead of at the end of the football season, was made in order to accommodate the large number of out-of-town alumni who come to the Bay District to see the "Cal" game.

Andrew Gawley '22 of San Francisco is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the football dinner dance. Assisting him are Peter Stolz '13, Joseph Tierney '31, John Hally '28, Jack Smith '29 and John Collolly '28. The price for the tickets will be $2.25.

Since it is expected that all reservations will be sold before the date of the event, alumni are asked to make arrangements for their parties and send in their reservations to the alumni office.

Jack Metz '34

Jack Metz '34, student body president of last year, is going to Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., for graduate study. While in Washington he will be employed in the governmental service.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Farrell now reside in Oakland where the groom is employed.

APGU to Elect Officers At Annual S. F. Banquet

While all other campus organizations are still in a dormant state, the Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilon, college honor group, is proceeding with arrangements for its annual conclave, shindig, or what you will. Officers of the organization report that the big event was held over from last semester in order that the new members who were initiated theen, might attend.

At present San Francisco looms as the choice of the APGUS, but a definite hideout has not been selected. Perhaps Lucca's is the place, or then there is the Palace Hotel, and still the boys may pick a White Tavern.

As usual, the organization will continue its support of debating, and attempt to increase the popularity which that activity enjoyed last year. This means that De La Salle Lounge will once more be the scene of many a liveely intercollegiate forensic encounter.

Other activities of the honor society will include the presentation of musicales and talks.

Political Scramble To Begin Tuesday

Mr. T. Anselm Duffy, assistant treasurer, reports that polls will be open on the campus for the primary elections, Tuesday, August 28.

The athletic office will be used to house the polls which will be in charge of Mr. Duffy, a member of the Democratic Central Committee.

Democratic candidates for governor include George Creel of San Francisco, Justice Wardell of San Francisco, Milton K. Young of Los Angeles and Upton Sinclair of Los Angeles. Republicans are headed by Frank Merriam, Los Angeles, C. C. Young, San Francisco, James Quinn, Los Angeles.

Burton precinct, in which Saint Mary's is located, will be represented in state government by men running for county offices which include: judicial, Leo Gallagher, Emmett Sewell, Hartley Shaw, Ira Thomson. For superintendent of public instruction: C. Vernon Bennett, Vierling Kersey, John Harold Swan, and for county superintendent of schools, Bryan O. Wilson.

ZOOLOGY HEAD FINISHES DECADE OF MARINE STUDY

Professor A. S. Campbell to Publish 2000 Pages on Sea Life Research

Winding up a major research project was the summer work of Professor A. S. Campbell of the zoology department of Saint Mary's College. Ten years ago Dr. Campbell began to study the marine one-celled animals of the tropical Pacific and to collect his results in written form. The professor has continued, in every moment of his spare hours, during all of the years, to write and to make drawings of the tiny microscopical tropical animals. The final volume, which now goes to press, contains no less than two thousand three hundred and ninety-eight pages, has two hundred and four text figures, and is embellished with forty-nine terminal plates of these elaborate animals. It is expected that the printed volume will be ready for distribution in the course of a year. The little animals which have been the object of these studies are known as Tintinnoinea and form elaborate shells.

These shells have been preserved since they were collected by the U. S. F. S. "Albatross" in 1903 and Dr. Campbell is the first one to offer a complete treatment of the little creatures in the Pacific.

In the course of the investigation three hundred and forty-one new species, and thirty new genera were found; many of these are so rare that only single specimens have ever been seen while others are very common in the tropical oceaen. Specimens from the deepest parts of the sea as well as the surface were studied. The expedition covered the west coast of North and South America and as far out as Easter Island and the famous Galapagos Islands.

Classroom of Air Heard Thru Summer

Although the regular school year terminated with the semester examinations and the beginning of summer last May, the "Class Room of the Air" was continued as a regular feature over Station KYA on each Sunday night at 6:15 during the vacation months.

This program, which has been running for several years over different radio stations, is sponsored by the Saint Mary's College Alumni Association and is under the direction of the executive secretary, Timothy J. Canty. Charles Fischer has continued to act as chairman of this broadcast during the summer months.

"The Classroom of the Air" features a combination of music and speeches both by the faculty and graduating students of the college.

More Students Climb on Honor Roll Bandwagon, Juniors Lead

The scholastic tendency of the student body took an upward trend when final figures proved that there was a marked increase of 2 per cent in students making the honor roll for the last quarter as compared against that of the third. The sum total of honor students amounted to ninety-nine as against eighty-nine of the previous semester.

Coming up from the well-known cellar, the junior class handed everyone a surprise by stepping into first place. Out of a class of 77, they managed to place 21 on the coveted list. The average for the entire class came to an even 1.55, nosing out the seniors by a minute .03 of a point.

Seniors Close Second

Although beaten by points, the fourth year men managed to eke out a moral victory over their upper class division opponents by placing 22 out of 96 members of their class on the honor list. They closed the door on their college career with 1.52 average, upholding the worthy record of their predecessors.

The sophomore class pulled brilliantly into third place after leading the first year men a merry chase. Loaded with a heavy schedule, the sophomores still managed to poll a 1.46 class average, beating the yearling squad by the margin of .02 of a point.

Cellar Renovated

This year found new faces in the cellar. The freshman class, like mighty Rome, had its day, and then tumbled. Elated over the victory they garnered the previous quarter, they paid too little heed to the burdens such an honor carried. Out of a class of 101, they managed to place 29 on the honor roll. The class average proved to be 1.44.

As a whole, the general outlook for the final quarter appeared very promising. There was a raise in the student body average, and each class played a more vigorous part in scholastic activity than they had in previous years.

FEDERAL RELIEF

The state of California is to be allotted an apportionment of federal funds sufficient to give aid to over 5000 students. 100,000 young men and women in need are to be assisted through colleges and universities of the nation.

Saint Mary's is to receive a monthly allotment of $795, based upon the $15 average per month per student to be employed. Federal funds are to be apportioned to provide work at between $15 and $20 a month for not more than 12 per cent of the student body, at an hourly rate of 30 cents.

Economics Group Joins Institute of Pacific

Taking the first step on its program of activities for the fall semester, the Economics Association announced yesterday through its president, Arthur Mott, that during the summer it had entered the Student Institute of Pacific Relations.

The Student Institute is composed of interested clubs and societies and in many cases of the associated students of the leading colleges and universities on the coast. Its purpose is to acquaint its members with the problems facing the nations bordering on the Pacific Ocean.

Edward I. Barry, Former Editor of Collegian, Dies

On August 13 Edward I. Barry, father of Edward A. Barry, passed away at his home in San Francisco. His death was a shock to the hosts of friends and associates in the Alumni Association and in the law.

Mr. Barry spoke at the last graduation exercises, giving masterly eulogy in honor of St. John the Baptist de la Salle. He was in failing health for several months because of a serious operation, but carried on with his work. He was an outstanding Catholic citizen and a brilliant member of the California Bar Association.

Attends Saint Mary's

Edward I. Barry was born in San Francisco in 1889 and attended the parochial schools and Sacred Heart College, later entering Saint Mary's, graduating with honors. He was the fourth editor of the Collegian. He pursued his legal studies further when he entered Hastings College and later received his degree in law from the University of California in 1910.

Entering the law firm of Sullivan, Sullivan & Roche, he soon obtained the reputation of being one of the most able trial lawyers in San Francisco. In 1922 he became a partner in the firm, it now being called Sullivan, Roche & Barry.

In 1912, he married Margaret L. Armstrong, who with his four children, Edward A., Margaret M., Helen A., and Bernice A., survive him. He leaves his brothers, James A., John F., David A., and sisters, Julia A., and Sister M. Redempta, of the Sisters of the Holy Family.

Services Held

Funeral services were held on Thursday before last at St. Cecilia's Church, the requiem Mass being celebrated by Father John Harnett. There were in attendance, besides his family, members of the Alumni, United States Senator Hiram Johnson, Theodore Roche, and former Chief Justice Matt I. Sullivan, representatives of the Board of Governors of the State Bar Association; the Bohemian, the Olympic and the Stock Exchange Clubs, of which he was a prominent member; and his many friends prominent in civic, legal and social society in San Francisco. His place of rest is the Holy Cross Cemetery.

MORAGA QUARTERLY APPEARS IN SUMMER

Headed by the address of Professor Claude Silva of the college history department on "Serra the Prophet" made at the Serra Academy last spring, the summer edition of the Moraga Quarterly made its appearance during the summer session.

Outstanding among the other articles for its clearness, its simplicity of expression, and its content, was a contribution by William R. Lowery, San Francisco attorney and an alumnus, entitled "The Citizen and Social Reconstruction."

The present economic and social crisis in the opinion of Lowery is due to the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few who by various means, some fair and most of them not, have gained an advantage over the majority.

Among the lawful but unfair practices condemned was that of buying bankrupt stocks at a low price and using them to undersell legitimate business men.

The suggested remedy, which is also to be an obstacle in the path of communism, is the redistribution of property both in the form of land and business interests, and the destruction of all large combinations, trusts, and chains which tend to become monopolistic.

Excerpts from the encyclicals of Pope Leo XIII and other prominent authorities were used by Lowery to prove his contentions.

Other articles in the summer issue included: "The New Theory of Matter" by H. S. Carroll, "The Centennary of William Morris" by Brother Leo, "Sarmiento on Our Sixties" by Madaline W. Nichols of the Dominican College, and "Catholic Literature Today" by Professor James Hagerty.

This last paper was read at the tenth annual convention of the San Francisco Archdiocesan Council, N. C. C. W., last May.

Summer School Co-Ed Married on Campus

Added to the list of those married in the College Chapel are the names of Mr. Homer Johnson of San Francisco and Miss Rita Virginia Montgomery of Canyon. The ceremony was performed by the school chaplain last Sunday afternoon.

Miss Marie Montgomery, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor, while Mr. John Wendt, a long friend of the groom, stood as best man.

Special permission was granted for this marriage. Ordinarily only those closely associated with the college are allowed the use of the chapel.

Air Broadcasts to Continue in Fall

Drama, Book Review, Class Room of Air to Remain

Radio activity, which was so prominent during the summer is to be continued this semester. Of the four weekly programs broadcast over the air from local stations, the only one to be dropped is "The College and the Contemporary World."

This series was over KRE at 7:45 and brought to the microphone speeches by faculty members on subjects of economics and political science.

The drama period will be continued over KROW every Monday evening at 7 for a half hour. Last Monday night "The Shyster," a short one-act play, was successfully sponsored over this program. The characters were: Ed Smiddy, Richard TeBeau, Noel Sherry, Ed Mahan and Joe Alioto.

Another short drama entitled "The Yellow Dog" will be given over this program next Monday night. The scene for this play is laid on the Russian River and Edward Smiddy and Richard TeBeau are the only characters. Both of these plays are written by a member of the Saint Mary's English Department.

Over Station KTAB the book review on contemporary writers, conducted by Edward Smiddy, will continue as usual.

"The Class Room of the Air" sponsored by the Alumni Association every Sunday evening at 6:15 over KYA, will also continue as a regular feature.

Floating College To Open Soon

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—With the world for a campus, students sailing October 4 on the "Floating University," for its 1934-1935 college year, will visit 35 countries during the 225-day cruise.

Standard courses, including a course in navigation, will be given in connection with side trips ashore; and a full year's college credit will be given to those completing the courses, according to C. R. Hogen of the Holland-American Line.

James E. Lough, former dean of men at New York University, will supervise the educational activities in conjunction with a faculty composed of prominent professors from universities and colleges throughout the United States.

Athletics will continue to play an important part as the ship will be equipped with a gymnasium and swimming pool; and contests will be scheduled with college teams of Hawaii, China, Japan and others.

New Dean Issues Welcome to New and Old Students

It is well for all of us, whether our status be that of self-sufficient seniors or that of humble, trusting fresnmen, to ask ourselves at this time why we are here. For the definiteness and the seriousness with which we answer that question will determine the value of our stay at Saint Mary's College.

As college men we are giving promise of lives that will be fruitful and worth while. But it is well for us to remember that a college education does nothing more for us than to offer uus opportunities for attainment.

The college diploma for which all of us are striving will be our advertisement to the world that we have the tools with which to carve our respective careers, but it is not a talisman that carries with it the promise of assured success.

To obtain the best results from the opportunities that are here afforded us, and to make good the promise that we hold out to the world, we must endeavor to choose things that are substantial and worth while, and we must have the discernment and the will power to cast aside those things that are irrelevant and superficial in our environment.

Student Brothers Form Largest Group Yet

Among the frosh who enrolled this semester were eleven student brothers. This brings the total enrollment of student brothers to thirty-one, the largest in the history of the college.

These eleven new brothers more than supplant the six who were moved to teaching positions during the summer. Among those transferred were Brothers Agatho, Adrian, and Hugh, who went to Cathedral High in Los Angeles; Brothers Boniface and Celestine, who are teaching at Sacred Heart High in San Francisco; and Brother Paul who is at Saint Mary's High in Berkeley.

The student brothers are: Brothers Antony, Benedict, Charles, Clement, Francis, Joseph, Lucius, Michael, Norbert, Richard, and Ralph.

They come from Canada, Oregon, Los Angeles, and the Oakland-San Francisco district.

Orators Participate in Many Summer Contests

Despite the rest granted by the summer recess, the local debaters engaged in a number of engagements.

Two lower division men, Philip Brady and Carl Schuck, met teams from Los Angeles J. C. and Compton J. C. on the presidential powers question during the early part of vacation.

On three occasions speakers appeared on the intercollegiate forum over Station KYA against representatives of the University of Santa Clara and San Francisco and San Mateo J. C. The local speakers on these occasions were respectively Thomas Paddock, William Simon and Noel Sherry.

KROW's studio was the scene of the appearance of the first co-ed debating team to appear under the Red and Blue banner.

Pressmen Give Awards To High School Papers

The Press Club, journalistic society of the college, will hold its first regular meeting of the fall semester next Tuesday, August 28, according to Martin Hill, president of the club.

Hill also announced that during the summer the club distributed the engraved cups and plaque awarded to the various high school publications competing in the annual press convention sponsored it.

The purpose of this first meeting will be to find ways and means of gaining more representatives from high school publications for the annual press competition.

Caseys to Install New Officers First of Week

Installation of officers for the coming year by the members of the Saint Mary's College Council of the Knights of Columbus will be held soon.

District Deputy Louis Pierotti of Oakland Council will be the conferring officer. It is hoped that the installation ceremonies will take place the first of next week so that the Council might get under way with its activities for the ensuing year.

A membership drive is being contemplated to enlist new members and this will take place soon after the first regular meeting next week.

Freshmen Tendered Official Welcome

Campus Leaders Greet, Advise Newcomers

Members of the Freshman class were officially welcomed onto the campus by prominent members of the College Faculty and Student Body, at a special Freshman meeting held last Wednesday, August 22.

Noel Sherry, president of the Associated Students of Saint Mary's College, opened the meeting with a brief welcoming talk to the students.

Brother James, Dean of the College, the first speaker, spoke briefly on the necessity of starting out right, and entering the spirit of the College.

Father Bowling, Student Chaplain, next, explained the various religious exercises conducted on the campus. He enumerated his duties as Chaplain, and requested the students to feel free to talke over any di....culties they might have, with him.

Mr. Louis LeFevre, graduate manager of athletics, then gave a talk on athletics. He also announced that by special innovation on the part of Edward P. Madigan, head baseball coach, students would be allowed to witness football practice at any time on presentation of the student body card.

Havelock Hunter, editor of the Collegian, gave a short talk urging the students to become members of the Collegian staff.

Mr. R. McAndrews, Debating Coach, spoke on the benefits of debating and invited all who are interested to join the debating club.

Brother Patrick, Director of Resident Students, gave a concluding talk urging all to strive for character, and help to make Saint Mary's truly a college for men.

Mexican Illiteracy Noted on Decline

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 23.—Mexico expects to have little illiteracy in the next generation. Formerly about 85 per cent of the population were illiterate, but this proportion has now been reduced to 50, and another generation will see it reduced to a negligible figure, officials declare.

In the Federal district more than 200,000 children are reported to be attending primary schools, which is about 80 per cent of those of school age in the district. Steps are being taken to increase the number of schools and to make attendance compulsory.

SAINT MARY'S BAND REORGANIZED FOR CURRENT SEASON

Joe McTigue Resumes Lead, Jason to Run Tryouts

For the first time since its organization, the College band will have a membership exceeding a hundred pieces. The exact number has not been determined as the tryouts for new members have not as yet been held.

JOE McTIGUE

Under the direction of Joe McTigue, who has had several years of experience in managing the bands of previous years, the 1934 Band is expected to be one of the most highly organized on the coast. Undoubtedly it will surpass those of the past in both numbers and quality of the music.

In the coming season, the football fans will witness many new dazzling and intricate marching formations which have been arranged by the manager. After a number of rehearsals the band will make several recordings of the College songs.

Rehearsals, which will take place every Sunday morning in the gymnasium and on the football field, will be under the direction of Arthur A. Jason of the Warrant Office, 30th Infantry, U. S. A., at the Presidio, and a member of the Saint Mary's Club.

The first official appearance of the band will be at the Saint Mary's Club barbecue which will be held on September 3 in Justin Grove behind the College.

According to Joe McTigue, tryouts for new members will be held after the first rehearsal, which is scheduled to begin next Sunday, August 28, on the campus. Practice will continue every Sunday thereafter until the football season begins.

John Somers '33

John Edward Somers of the class of '33 and editor of The Gael in 1932 has his first novel accepted by an eastern publishing company. Ed also expects to havee his second and third novels accepted shortly. He is now residing at Fortuna in Humboldt County.

SENIOR SKETCHES

Looking over this year's list of seniors, the name of a small but no insignificant member of the class stands out.

In 1931 Robert Latuda matriculated here from Holy Trinity High School in Trinidad, Colorado. At first he was merely another little fellow attending a college noted for its big men.

Active Frosh Year

But this did not deter the determined young Coloradoan. At the end of the first semester he broke into the limelight when he made the honor roll, and during the past three years a semester has not gone by without his name being with that select group.

He was also appointed as a member of the yearlings athletic committee, and in this position he managed the third floor division of the Augustine Hall basketball team.

He has also found time to devote to other activities outside of the classroom. The Knights of Columbus number him as a member and an officer.

Other Works

Bob has been admitted to the Economic Association. Last year he was secretary of the junior class.

The climax of his career came with his election to the office of intramural sports manager.

His interest in athletics became apparent at the start of his freshman year when he was frosh football manager. With this varied sports experience, Latuda plans an inter-class program that will surpass the successful efforts of last season.

Graduation Plans

The current season will commence with a soft ball series in which the various classes are to participate. Babe Ruth Field will again be the scene of league games.

After graduation, Bob in association with his brother Frank, plans to operate the Liberty Fuel & Coke Co. of Latuda, Utah.

His thesis, "Coal By-Products," is being done with this business aim in view.

Saint Mary's Man's Credo

"The Collegian" has adopted a policy of yearly reproducing this credo written by Brother Leo to acquaint the incoming class with the best interpretation of Saint Mary's ideals, traditions and spirit, and to renew and strengthen the belief of all present undergraduates.—The Editor.

"I believe that the world has an Idea behind it and that my life is more than merely animal life.

"I believe that my biggest and unending business is, according to my ability and my opportunity, to champion the cause of Goodness, Beauty and Truth.

"I believe that the things of the spirit are more important than material and that the man who ignores spiritual values ignores the deepest and truest things in life.

"I believe in honesty, not because it is the best policy, but because it is the will of God which ordains that I shall be fair and square with all my fellow creatures.

"I believe in art, literature, music, science, philosophy, and all the other forms wherein the human mind has expressed its aspirations and recorded its achievements.

"I believe in the European tradition of culture whereof I am the heir, and I pledge myself to live as best I may in harmony with its spirit and its aims.

"I believe in the sacredness of my duties as an American citizen and honor the flag of my country as the symbol of political liberty.

"I believe in whatsoever things are good, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest.

"I believe in Saint Mary's College, Mother of Men, and cherish the years I have been privileged to spend in her fostering care."

—By BROTHER LEO.

And you wonder what happened to the radio loud speaker in the dining hall? Answer: the commissary department reported last spring that more food was consumed to the tune of dance orchestras than without.

The Primaries

The voting population of the state will cast their ballots next Tuesday after one of the most spirited election campaigns California has ever witnessed.

Radicals, progressives, and conservatives have strong representatives in the race, and it is because of this that voters, especially the college and aluumni, should choose intelligently. The charges and countercharges, the promises that range from Utopian to reactionary measures, must be investigated now, if they have been overlooked, for otherwise our vote may do more harm than good.

Thus citizenship duties demand that wise and thoughtful selections be made so that the process of reconstruction can be continued. Candidates who are working for a more Christian-like economic and social structure deserve the support of their fellow citizens on Tuesday.

Don't you wish you knew as much as you did when you were a freshman—and possessed as much money.

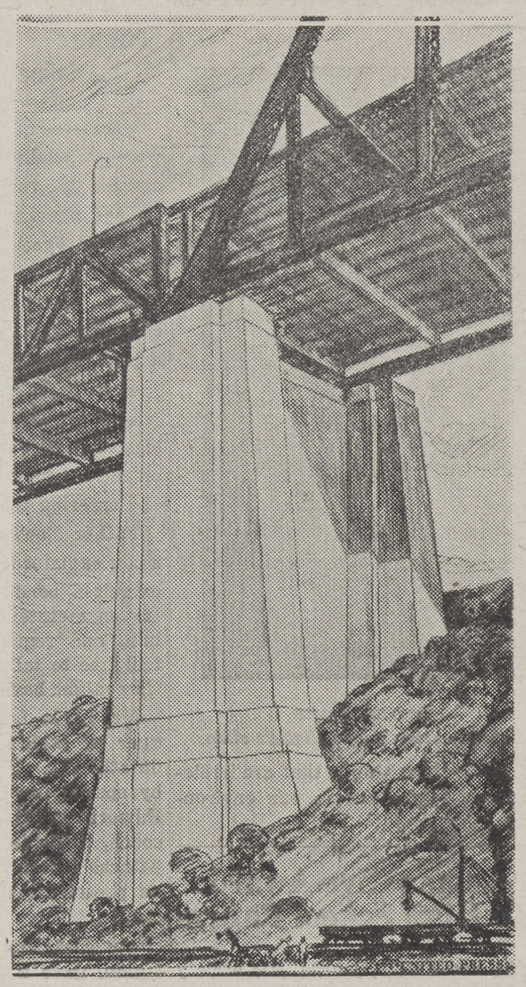
Government Again Comes to Aid

Today The Collegian carries welcome news on the front page, telling financially stricken students of the government's renewal of relief funds to help support them while they are engaged in winning an education at this institution. It is indeed a wise move to care for the minds that are to govern the nation when the next generation passes.

And the stipulation that the work only included educational and recreational activities is still further reaching. Before, the aid rendered the undergraduates was simply material; however, now it is a combination of material and spiritual. Now the students will be able to repay the government in small part by playing a definite part in developing and advancing their community by producing sociological surveys, statistical reports and setting up educational centers.

The national government is proving a wise and just foster parent.

Bridge and the College



At the same time that the Bay Bridge is completed in 1935 Saint Mary's will celebrate its 75th anniversary. With the bridge as a connecting link the college will be brought within thirty minutes time of its original home in San Francisco.

Education on the Air

In the August number of Radio Art particular notice is given to the part that Saint Mary's is playing as a leader among the small colleges over the airways. The efforts of the local faculty and student body in this endeavor for the past several years is noted and commended by the magazine.

Such notices help to show the appreciation of the public as well as those high in radio circles for the educational value of vollegiate programs.

Since the air is adopting each succeeding year a more intellectual tone in releasing programs sponsored by colleges and universities, two more fields and duties are opened for them.

In the first place they must place their labors at the disposal of the radio public which is deprived from attending the classroom, but at the same time desires the knowledge given within its walls. Secondly the student and the campus societies, both undergraduates and alumni, should be encouraged to take their place on correlated programs.

It is with these thoughts in mind that Saint Mary's has taken an important part in spreading the values of education by means of the radio.

A prominent eastern professor claims that American colleges are producing more resourceful graduates. Yes, he's right. He must have seen five collegians fit themselves into a rumble seat.

INTERCOLLEGIATE COMMENT

Herein is printed weekly the best in university thought.

About Women

The women must take the blame this time. At last a college man has had the courage to voice his convictions regarding feminine etiquette and appearance, and what a panning his co-ed readers take!

The daring young man presumes, in a column of the University of Washington paper, to point out in no gentle manner some things he doesn't like. Here are a few of his pet aversions:

Women, who look like a parenthesis mark when they dance; who sing in the ear of their date; who wipe off excess lipstick on the collars of unsuspecting males; who talk about all their other dates; who pluck their eyebrows unevenly; who wear mascara which runs; who appear in sweaters which are too short; who affect violently colored fingernails and freshly set hair with a varnished look; who pull up their hose in public or chew gum at dances.

The columnist adds, bravely, that women who feel themselves high-hatted by men acquaintances are entirely in the wrong, for it is their absolute duty to speak first and thus acknowledge the recognition.

Except for a few minor faults, such as the above-mentioned, and a thousand or so others too numerous to mention, the critic is willing to admit sweetly that "women are a necessary evil" and drops the subject.

And if there is any credibility in the old saying that "you can't tell a woman a thing," he might just as well forget the subject when he drops it.

Outlooks and Insights

By BROTHER LEO

A SAINT MARY'S MAN

Brother Leo

The throng of worshippers who assembled in Saint Cecilia's Church in San Francisco on Thursday, August 16, were, perhaps unwittingly, paying a tribute to this College for Men. They were there to offer their prayerful respects to Edward I. Barry. But in thus honoring the man they were likewise honoring his Alma Mater, his intellectual mother.

One way of distinguishing a good college from a college not so good is to look upon the character and career of its graduates. Especially in recent years, every college seems to turn out some individuals who are manifestly uneducated in the real sense, manifestly lacking in those principles and habits which make for useful citizenship and redound to the greater glory of God. But the best college is the college that develops in a generous proportion of its graduates those ideals and convictions which help a man to stand foursquare against the winds of fate.

Edward I. Barry was such a man. From St. Rose's parochial school in San Francisco he went to Sacred Heart College and from Sacred Heart he came to Saint Mary's. Through and through he was a Brothers' boy, a fact he always proudly professed. Distinguished in his legal status, happy in his family life, acclaimed as a public spirited citizen, he was always one who rendered to God the things that are God's. His commencement address here on the campus last May was a convincing profession of faith, a sound exposition of the philosophy of Catholic education and a testimonial to the teaching congregation founded by St. John Baptist de la Salle.

WHAT WE WANT

"There are three wants," says Emerson, "which never can be satisfied: that of the rich, who want something more; that of the sick, who want something different; and that of the traveller, who says, 'Anywhere but here'."

All three men of desires have their points. The things they desire are not necessarily evil. Lust for gold, undue solicitude for our own health and comfort, the spirit of restlessness—these three have wrought much havoc and have broken many promising lives; yet material goods are necessary, health is desirable and it is wise to move around a bit—if for no other reason than to keep out of ruts.

Emerson did not hold that these desires are bad; he merely insisted that they can never be satisfied. We go wrong only when we assume that the pursuit of riches, of comfort, of strange sights and unfamiliar places will bring us complete satisfaction. Of course, they do not; they cannot.

The man immersed in material things is rarely a contented person. The man mainly concerned with his physical wellbeing is not far removed from the man who follows the lusts of the flesh; there is little to choose between the frank sensualist and the devout health crank.

Nor is satisfaction granted to the rolling stone, the man abnormally loosefooted, the universal rambler. Though he journey in either the kingdoms of the world or the kingdoms of the mind, he arrives nowhere. He is a dilettante, a pococourante, a dabbler, a jack-of-all-trades. Happiness lies not that way.

Emerson might have gone farther. He might have pointed out that in this earthly life not one of our really significant desires can be satisfied. Life is too short and too limited to bring complete happiness. Verily, as Saint Paul remarks, "We have not here a lasting city."

HOW TO BE A BOARDER IN FIVE SHORT LESSONS:

1. Go to class with only one cigarette in your shirt pocket. Leave the full pack in your room.

2. Don't bother to get up for breakfast. Coffee and a snail will hold you until lunch.

3. Don't do your assignments until the night before they are due, then get up early in the morning to finish them and wake your roommate with poundings of the typewriter.

4. Don't turn off your radio until all the stations on the air have signed off. Your neighbors like to lay in bed and listen until they fall asleep.

5. Don't bother to put up a radio aerial; just wait until someone above or below your room risks his neck stringing his up, then hook on.

CHICAGO MALES NOT GENTLEMEN

Gentlemen prefer blondes, but men students at the University of Chicago much prefer brunettes. As a result of a questionnaire sent out by the Daily Maroon, it was learned that the men at that institution have a distinct leaning toward the darker variety of femininity, with lines bordering somewhat on the Mae West type. The vote was unanimous.

UNIVERSITIES REPRESENTED

British universities are not without representation in parliament, as they elect 12 members to the House of Commons.

COLLEGE PRINTING SHOWS PROFIT

Louisiana Polytechnic Institute has a complete printing plant for the production of its student newspaper and other official publications. It has been making a profit for many years.

OPEN-AIR CLASSROOM

Some of the students at Northwestern University will not have to suffer in stifling class-rooms during the hot weather of early fall, if plans for the erection of an open-air class-room go through. The proposed structure would seat 150 students, and would be located directly on the lake front.

MONEY RAISED

An ingenious money-making girl at Smith wanted to go to a party at Princeton, but had no money. After wracking her brain for awhile, she hit upon a scheme. She posted a large sign on the bulletin board which said: "All those who wish to see me swallow a live goldfish please come to my room at 2 o'clock tomorrow. Admission 25 cents."

Crowds arrived at the appointed time, and were well-pleased with the result. The gate amounted to $12.25.

IDEAL PROM

The Western Reserve Wild Cat, like all student publications, is always ready to come forth with a helpful suggestion. The following is its idea for a good prom:

Date—Easter vacation. From Sunday to Saturday.

Place—S. S. Saratoga.

Orchestra—Guy Lombardo, Cab Calloway, Paul Whiteman, Fred Waring, and Ben Bernie.

Entertainment—Ziegfeld Follies, Follies Bergere, Eddie Cantor, Bill Robinson.

Favors—Small Packards.

Chaperones—Mae West, Jean Harlow, Sophie Tucker.

Tickets—Ninety-eight cents, payment pending.

STRIKE TROUBLES

When, owing to strike conditions at the plant which prints the Daily Northwestern it was found necessary to leave the editorial page a blank in one issue of the paper, it did not take the students long to declare loudly that it was the best editorial page of the year. The university journalists came back strongly, however, with the retort that it was probably the first one they were able to understand.

Pick Ups - - -

Signs of the times . . . College students, at least those of the local campus, claim that the depression is well on the way to decline . . . The basis for this conclusion rests in the increased employment obtained by Saint Mary's students . . . Most of them secured jobs during the summer recess . . . However, the movie colony in the southland offered little work this year . . . quite in contrast with preceding seasons . . . Despite this, Nebb "Hollywood on the Air" Elduayan managed to eke out several weeks employment from the movie moguls.
